

Oral presentations ◀ Case studies ▶

Method ◀ Commenting on 2 documents ▶

CS1 ◀ GLOBAL FLOWS & THE UK ▶

Which massive flows interconnect the world & the UK?

- Worldwide trade & investment
- People on the move

CS2 ◀ THE CALAIS MIGRANT CRISIS ▶

What does the Calais Migrant crisis tell us about international migration to the UK?

- Coming to Calais
- Living and leaving Calais

CS3 ◀ IMMIGRATION TO THE UK ▶

To what extent is the UK a 'magnet for migrants'? What is the impact of immigration on the UK?

- A too attractive country?
- The subsequent debates

CS3 ◀ EMIGRATION FROM THE UK ▶

Is the UK still a country of emigration?

- A long-established tradition
- The case of re-emigration
- A new trend: amenity migration

CS5 ◀ LONDON, A GLOBAL CITY ▶

What are the characteristics of a global city?

- An attractive city
- New challenges

LONDON MAYORS

'Red' Ken LIVINGSTONE 2000-2008 (Labour), Central London congestion charge
 'Mad' Boris JOHNSON 2008-2016 (Tory), 'Boris bikes', head of 'Leave EU'
 Sadiq KHAN 2016-2020 (Labour), 1st Muslim, from Pakistani deprived origin

Online resources - Ressources en ligne

- Dictionnaire en ligne pour la prononciation, traduction, la définition ou les synonymes d'un mot @ <http://www.wordreference.com/enfr/>
- Documents @ <http://www.evolutairehg.fr>

THE UK & INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION

Comment on the following sources:

GUIDELINE	THE CALAIS MIGRANT CRISIS
-----------	---------------------------

Source 1. Kate Evans, Threads, The Calais cartoon, 2015.

Source 2. By Andrew Osborn, Reuters, 3 August 2015.

Dramatic images of migrants storming the Channel Tunnel from France have prompted Prime Minister David Cameron's government to ramp an anti-immigration rhetoric and spurred Eurosceptics to amplify call for Britain to quit the European Union. [...] The Calais events pose a political problem by spotlighting his failure to keep his promise on controlling immigration. That may make it harder for him to persuade voters to stay in the EU. [...]

Now some French politicians are talking about scrapping treaties that allow Britain to operate border controls on the French side of the tunnel. [...] The British government has responded by pledging more security fencing and sniffer dogs. It has also promised to bring forward a law to tighten immigration rules. [...] On Sunday, Theresa May, the interior minister, spoke of the need to convey the message that Britain's streets were not 'paved with gold'.

LONDON, A GLOBAL CITY

Comment on the following sources:

GUIDELINE	THE CHARACTERISTICS OF A GLOBAL CITY
-----------	--------------------------------------

Source 1. Typographic London map, Christian Tate, Time Out London Student Guide

Source 2. Urban regeneration

The Olympic-led regeneration of Stratford was one of the biggest development projects London has seen. If you live or work in the area, how have you experienced the transformation? [...] Share your pictures and stories and we'll feature a selection.

Ruth Kosminski: Since the regeneration of East London, there has been a lot of hype about how fantastic the area is to live in. This is mostly from professional people who have "just discovered" that the East End is not the dump they thought it was. House prices have become very silly to put it mildly. If you are on a low income then you won't stand a chance of buying your own home. Today I can buy a cappuccino for £5. This is E17 not Park Lane. Under all the hype there are still very real social problems that were here before the regeneration and still remain today. I feel that these problems are deliberately swept under the carpet.

Londoners, www.witness.theguardian.com, Thursday 28 January 2016.